

Stacey's practice focuses on transportation, personal injury, premises liability and insurance law. She also handles business, construction and employment discrimination litigation. Stacey handles all phases of litigation, from inception through trial.

Prior to joining Fletcher Farley, Stacey practiced insurance and transportation defense for a private law firm in Houston, Texas, as well as in-house for a national insurance carrier. Stacey has represented a wide array of clients, including some of the nation's largest motor carriers, insurance carriers, transportation providers, waste haulers, bus companies and individuals. She has successfully tried a number of cases to verdict, and has extensive negotiation and mediation experience.

Stacey earned her J.D. from South Texas College of Law, and her B.S. in Political Science from the University of Houston where she graduated with a magna cum laude distinction.
