

Molly Higgins | ASSOCIATE

Molly joined Fletcher Farley as an associate attorney in 2015. She brings to the firm diverse litigation experience, having represented plaintiffs and defendants in state and federal courts across the state of Texas. Molly's experience includes defense of governmental entities, general tort liability, personal injury and employment law, as well as family law and criminal defense.

Molly's practice is focused on construction defects and insurance defense litigation, including transportation defense, premises liability and general tort liability. Molly has assisted in trying several cases to both judge and jury and has briefed cases to the Texas intermediate appellate courts and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Molly earned her Juris Doctorate from Baylor University School of Law in 2012, where she earned the Dean's Academic Excellence Scholarship. Molly earned her Bachelor of Journalism after three years at the University of Texas at Austin in 2009, as well as completing the Business Foundations Certificate Program.
